

Kaito

millarwest

Kaito is manufactured to satisfy the demand for a quality range of workstations and ancillary products within tight budgetary constraints while offering an elegance that is hard to match at this price level.

▼ This 4 person cluster using crescent workstations shown in a maple finish encourages interaction and team working.

▲ The stylish leg frame incorporates concealed cable risers to feed power and data leads from floor boxes or low level wall sockets, maintaining a clean and uncluttered look to your office.

Kaito

Kaito is designed to be flexible enough to meet your current needs yet simple to remodel when required in the fast evolving environment of today's office.

Using screens and personal storage at the ends of these rectangular workstations helps to provide delineation between teams within an open area without erecting formal barriers.

▲ These contemporary low level screens and the use of wave workstations add a different dimension to what could be a very formal layout.

With a choice of 7 finishes that all compliment the silver legs and the use of exciting colours in chairs and screens you can create not only an extremely pleasing environment for your staff but a look that will impress clients.

Where space is at a premium the use of a tilt top reconfigurable table is the solution. These tables can be stored in the minimum of space and wheeled out and set up in seconds.

Kaito's numerous shapes of worktops and finishes combine to provide a clean sophisticated appearance that will enhance any office whether cellular or open plan.

The suite shown includes a boat shaped meeting table and a bow fronted crescent workstation with a desk high pedestal all in Walnut finish.
